

Science Advances is a gold, open access multidisciplinary journal. Science Advances is impactful because we are:

- Published by AAAS, the world's largest non-profit scientific society.
- Led by an Editorial Board of active, preeminent researchers.
- Committed to thorough, rigorous, and fair scientific peer review.
- Flexible, accepting short and long form research articles and reviews (up to 15,000 words).
- Committed to moving manuscripts quickly from submission onward, including transfers from other Science family of journals.
- Promoted by global press coverage, social media postings, and online readership.
- Compliant with institutional and funder mandates as well as international guidelines for ethical practices in research and publishing.
- Professionally copy-edited and produced.
- Closely tracked with current impact metrics and article tracking tools.
- Freely available to all readers worldwide.
